Flatiron Constructors Joins Team United

JEFFERSON CITY – Team United, one of two teams negotiating with the Missouri Department of Transportation to improve 802 of the state’s worst bridges through the Safe & Sound Bridge Improvement Program, has added Flatiron Constructors, Inc. to its team.

Flatiron, based in Colorado, joins United Contractors of South Carolina as the lead construction components of Team United, along with United/Jensen/Cramer joint venture from Iowa. Other major participants in TU are John Laing Infrastructure, RBC Capital Markets, LPA Group and Roy Jorgensen and Associates.

The other team in the hunt for the Safe & Sound contract is Missouri Bridge Partners, led by Zachry American Infrastructure. Other major participants on the MBP team are Parsons Transportation Group, HNTB, Fred Weber, Inc., Clarkson Construction and Infrastructure Corporation of America.

Both teams list a significant number of Missouri construction and engineering firms as exclusive sub-contractors.

Final technical proposals are due on October 25, with pricing proposals to follow on November 5. The Missouri Highways and Transportation Commission is expected to award a contract at its November 14 meeting in Kansas City.
